

The Alchemist Review is published annually by the University of Illinois Springfield English Department. It publishes creative writing including but not limited to fiction, poetry and creative non-fiction, art, and photography by new and experienced writers. The Alchemist Review is committed to providing an inclusive, safe and diverse space for students and alumni of the University of Illinois at Springfield to test their voices.

The Alchemist Review is committed to publishing diverse voices and aims to focus on those that have, throughout history, been marginalized and excluded from the literary canon. We especially encourage submissions from women, people of color, LGBTQIA+ writers, writers with disabilities, and writers with intersectional identities. The Alchemist Review reserves the right to remove work that is offensive or work that promotes harmful prejudices and stereotypes.